PARK HOUSE IS A DISCREET
BOLTHOLE FOR BUSINESS EVENTS

Day guests and House guests

Park House's West Sussex location and rural setting allows for complete privacy, and we encourage exclusive use events so that you have 'Run of the House'. We are close enough to London yet far enough away from company politics to give a fresh view on things!

Our event spaces are situated in our feature Sussex Barn which has been purposed specifically for events. The Barn is easily accessible from the main House with parking on one side and our gardens and grounds on the other. The event space is easily reached from the House's main kitchen meaning that any flexibility needed for breacktime changes can be swiftly catered for.

Exposed beams and wooden floors create a vintage, rustic aesthetic to the main space and lends itself to a relaxed atmosphere in keeping with today's less formal office culture. And with the House's grounds just outside the main space, breaks and breakouts can be taken alfresco.

The Barn has capacity for up to 75 delegates in the main space. A boardroom, accessed separately, seats 12 on the first floor and can be used in conjunction with or separately from the main space.

We welcome Day guests and House guests and have created packages to meet the needs of a delegate visiting during office hours or a House guest away on business for a night or two.

Our menus draw on our local growers and artisans and we work with clients to create menus from classic British favourites to fierce fusions of cooking cultures.

Events are personally overseen by our event coordinator who is onsite, in contact and in control of your entire event experience.

Rustic but revved!

We embrace the digitisation of events and recognise that hybrid events are here to stay. This means that your key guests and speakers can be hosted at our House and the larger delegation that you'd normally have brought in can be streamed in live and your event can even be recorded for a wider distribution. Hybrid brings a valuable new big impact experience to events; and while this new style of meeting embraces technology, they still require great surroundings and attentive service.

We've partnered with Platinum Productions to bring in the requisite technology and people for broadcast quality events. While they tick the tech, we'll ensure your on-site delegate and speaker experience helps you get the job done and the meeting objectives met.

Let's go outside!

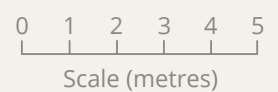

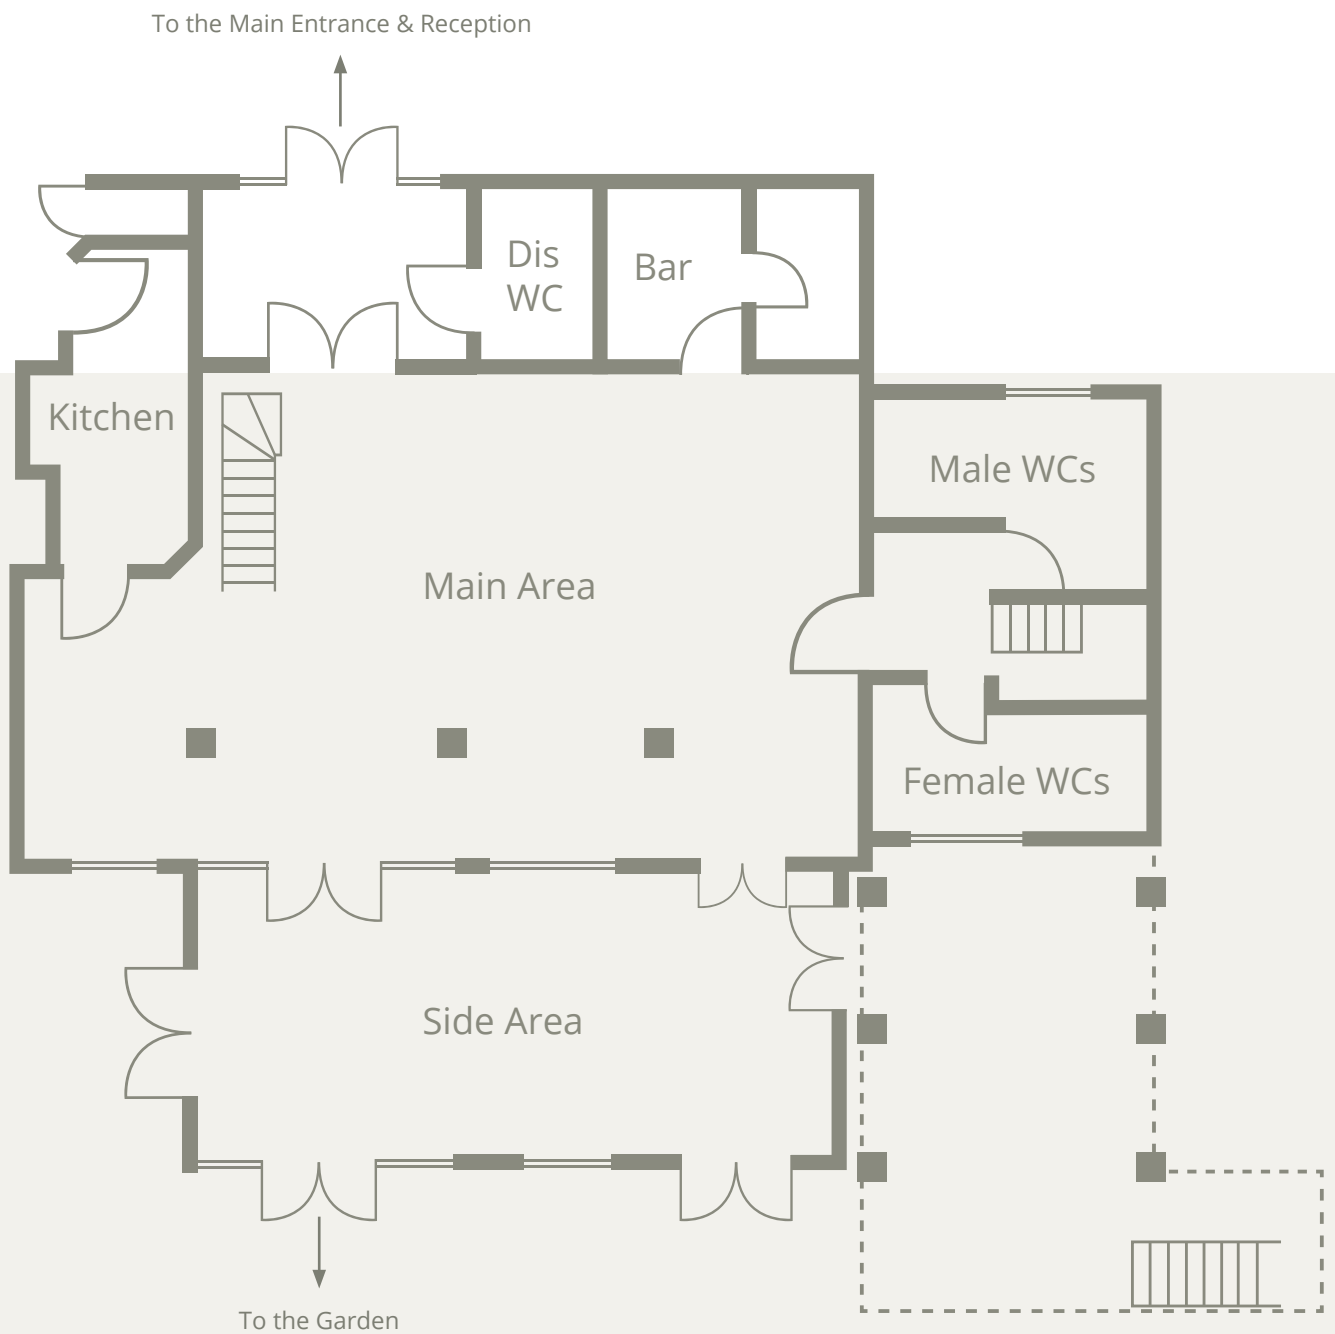

We've plenty of room to breathe and can arrange team activities to break up or take up the day.

A round robin doubles competition on our pristine grass courts or more formal team build activities can all be brought into play in the grounds. And if you've more of an epicurean mindset for your team build activities, we work closely with neighbouring Nyetimber and can quickly put some sparkle into your gathering with tutored tastings.

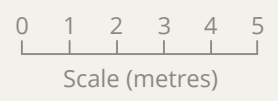

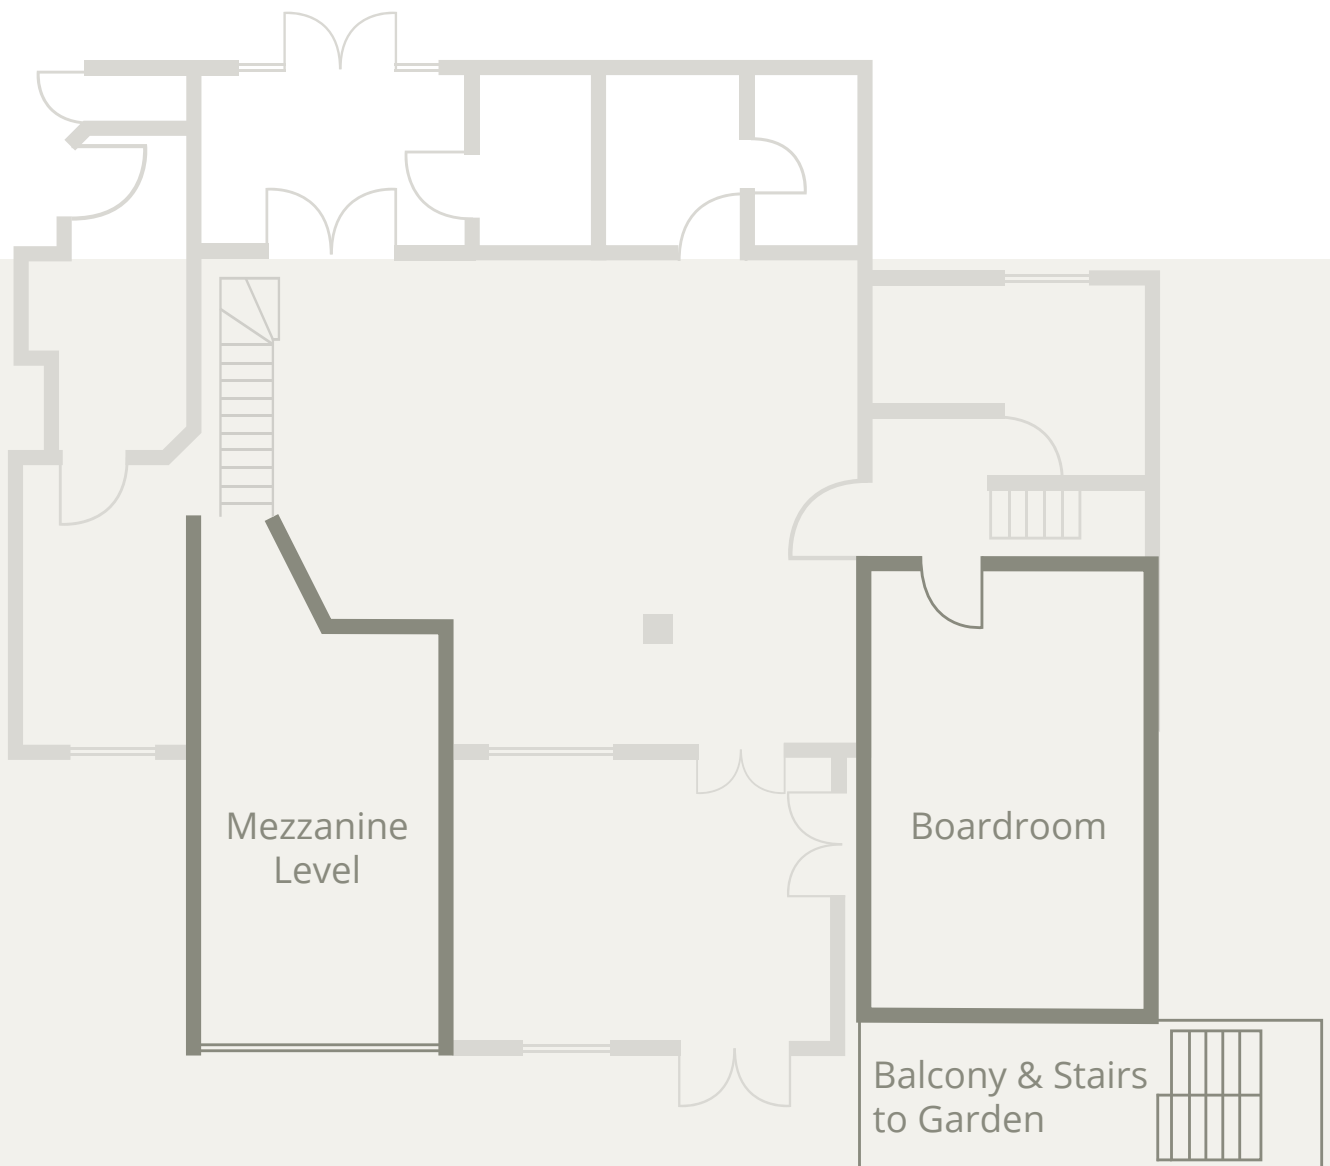

House guests can also use the on-site leisure and spa facilities during their stay, or the leisure facilities can be hired for alfresco pool parties and company BBQs.

Through our partners, Platinum Productions, we can provide the technical expertise and equipment to combine your physical House event with virtual attendance and interaction. Thus, enabling those who work remotely or are unable attend in person to share the experience. By bringing broadcast quality video and audio to your meetings and events it bolsters delegate engagement, collaboration, and reach and will transform your live event into a fully realised virtual experience.

Hybrid events also help provide a quantifiable return on investment from your face-to-face marketing.
